

THE CULTURE PROJECT IS COMING TO THE DIOCESE OF TOLEDO!

THE CULTURE PROJECT is an initiative of young people set out to restore culture through the experience of virtue. We proclaim the dignity of the human person and the richness of living sexual integrity, inviting our culture to become fully alive.

"The speakers were great and the videos were awesome.

I wish the whole world could hear what the culture project is trying to tell people about human value."

TOLEDO TEAM

INVITING OUR CULTURE TO BE FULLY ALIVE

NATHAN MAURER was born and raised in central Ohio and is the oldest of five children. He graduated from Franciscan University of Steubenville, OH in 2012 with a degree in Philosophy and Theology. During his college career, he had the opportunity to travel across Europe, Africa, and the Caribbean, and learned that the common desire of people everywhere is for love and fullness of life. He has a passion to help heal the culture by inspiring young people to live courageously, both in sexual virtue and by standing up for every human life. He spent this past year speaking to thousands of youth across New York City about these very topics, and is excited to join the efforts of The Culture Project as they embark on their mission to restore the culture.

EMILY LIUZZA was born and raised just outside of New Orleans, LA. She studied at Franciscan University of Steubenville for both her undergraduate and graduate degrees. In 2013, she received her Bachelor's degree in Theology and Catechetics, and in 2015, she finished her Master's degree in Educational Administration with a concentration in curriculum and professional development. Growing deeper in her faith really began in college where she developed a passion for women's ministry and a strong desire to serve and teach the youth. As a missionary with The Culture Project, Emily hopes to help young people, particularly young women, to know their value, dignity, and worthiness of authentic love.

JACKIE ZUCCO is the daughter of Joseph and Michelle Zucco. She was born and raised in northern Delaware and is the youngest of four children. She has three older brothers, Eric, Matt, and Tommy. Jackie was raised in the Catholic faith, and after the death of her father in 2005, the faith brought a whole new meaning to her life. After high school, she attended Franciscan University of Steubenville. She majored in Accounting and minored in Finance while also playing volleyball and then assistant coached for a year. Some of her greatest experiences are going on mission trips with the school to places such as Jamaica. Jackie Graduated in 2016 and is now a missionary with The Culture Project.

LAUREN ROACH hails from Madison, WI where she graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2016 with degrees in History and Religious Studies. After encountering the beauty and depth of the Catholic faith in college, Lauren discovered a passion to serve others and share the message that all people are called to a life of love and joy. When she's not reading or playing ultimate frisbee, you can find her cheering on Badger basketball, seeking out the world's best slice of bacon, and going on all sorts of adventures.

PHIL TRAN, the youngest member of The Culture Project, was born in Vietnam but raised in the suburbs outside of Philadelphia. Growing up, he always wanted to pursue a career in engineering, working towards that goal throughout high school while also growing deeper in the faith. However, his world changed forever when God called him into deeper service to the Church during his senior year of high school. After studying for a brief time in seminary and returning home, he discerned that God was calling him to spend a year of his life in missionary work with The Culture Project, administering to His people in this incredible way while continuing to discern his vocation.
